I just got Brad's drawings, and I have my own rudimentary, highlighted maps. I'll bring those.

Did you see that Chris Maki has been invited to the meeting by Matt. FYI.

Thanks. Let's meet today and then develop a game plan with the others.

I don't have any specific drawings. Brad was going to try to get me some updates today if he could.

Working on a rough timeline. Hard to predict because so many pieces have a domino effect. I will need a bit of guidance in this realm.

I can sort of pull budgets together. The way it was presented on the consultants cost estimate is a bit difficult to breakdown as they had some costs lumped together. I'll do my best, but again I will need help as we get closer.

After today's meeting and after we consult with VP Mai we can send the latest with your revisions. Do you have your revisions, timeline for implementation and budget for this pm?

Since it was decided to get approval on a plan without going back to the team and involving them, how should I respond to this? Daniel is one of the students on the team.

Hey Darcy!

I hope the semester is winding down well for you! I hadn't heard any updates about the visioning team so I figured I would just check in. Did those different options ever get sent out, and is the team going to decide in some way which one is the best option moving forward?

Let me know, thank you!
